CHILDREN'S DROLLERIES

Chambers Journal

Not long since a correspondent sent to a provincial paper an anecdote of which his six year old boy was the hero. He says "I keep a shop and sell fancy goods. A gentleman came in to buy something. It was early and my little boy and I were alone in the house at the time. The gentleman gave me a sovereign, and I had to go up stairs to my cash box. Before doing so, I went into the little room next to the shop and said to the boy 'Watch the gentleman, that he don't steal anything,' and I put him on the counter. As soon as I returned he sang out 'Pa, he didn't steal anything—I watched him.' You may imagine what a position I was in."

Children's questions are often no less embarrassing than they are amusing, as may be instanced in the story of the mercenary little boy who overheard a conversation respecting a wedding that was soon to take place. At breakfast the next morning he recalled the subject by asking the question "Papa, what do they want to give the bride away for? Can't they sell her?"

At a whale exhibition a youngster is said to have asked his mamma if the whale that swallowed Jonah had as large a mouth as the one before them, why didn't Jonah walk out at one corner? 'You must think Jonah was a fool, he didn't want to walk out and get drowned,' was the quick reply of a younger brother, before the mother could answer.

It is related of another infant inquirer who was looking with great interest at a foaming pan of milk, that he suddenly exclaimed "Mamma, where do cows get the milk from?" "Where do you get your tears?" was the answer. After a thoughtful silence in which the mention of tears had evidently recalled certain associations, he again broke out "Mamma do the cows have to be spanked?"

On seeing a house being white washed a small boy of three wanted to know if the house was going to be shaved. A lady, when admiring the stars on a bright night in a tropical climate was suddenly asked in the most innocent way by her little son of five years old, if those were the nails that held up heaven.

A boy who had always refused to eat oatmeal in spite of his mother's urgings that it was strengthening diet, suddenly surprised her one morning by eating a liberal plateful and calling for more. Upon his mother asking for an explanation he replied "I'm bound to eat oatmeal till I'm strong enough to whip John [illegible]."

Little Freddie, when visiting a neighbor's house, was offered a piece of bread and butter, which he accepted but with no [illegible] of gratitude. "What do you say, Fred?" the [illegible] hinted the lady, expecting him to say "Thank you." "I say it ain't cake," was the impolite response.

The mother of a family after reading from the morning paper that the cold the night before was intense, the thermometer registering many degrees below freezing point, said "Now children I suppose you are taught all about that at school. Which of you can tell me what the freezing point is?" "The point of my nose, papa," was the prompt reply from one of the youngsters.

A gentleman somewhat advanced in life, and who was never remarkable for his good looks, asked his grandchild what he thought of him. The youngster made no reply. "Well, why won't you tell me what you think of me?" "Cause I don't want to get licked," was the answer.

A mother once showed her child a beautiful cell [illegible] St John of fine make and color. "See," she said, "he has been very good, and heaven always rewards the good by making them beautiful." "Oh," said the child lifting its shoulders, "don't be[lieve] that mamma. This little St John looks very meek because he's all glued up, but if he could only move you'd see."

The following remark of a little girl shows an opinion of her elders the reverse of flattering. "O, dear," she exclaimed to her doll, "I do wish you would sit still. I never saw such an uneasy thing in all my life. Why don't you act like grown folks and be still and stupid for awhile."

Autocracy and Democracy in Germany

[illegible]

A mighty but as yet a bloodless revolution is in progress in Germany. The old order of things is pitted against the new order of the people. Monarchy has come to the grapple with Democracy. The Emperor William, sustained by the power behind the throne in the person of Prince Bismarck, is antagonizing the constitution of the country with his own despotic will.

The imperial rescript just issued is a most emphatic assertion of kingly prerogatives. It can only be interpreted as a distinct notice to the German people that the only rights they have under the constitution are the right of acquiescence in Bismarck's policy and the right of sneezing when the Emperor takes snuff. They can, indeed, send representatives to the Reichstag and these representatives can indeed express their minds. But when it comes to conclusions the throne must be allowed to decide and the people must merely say amen.

No wonder that this rescript has produced a tremendous excitement all over Germany, and that the opinion was freely expressed that a conflict between the Government and Parliament can hardly be avoided. A dispatch from Berlin says that "since the parliamentary conflict twenty years ago so deep and universal a sensation has never been created as by the rescript addressed to the Prussian Ministry. The gravity of the situation is patent to everybody."

Unless the popular judgment is greatly at fault, the Emperor would be a less offensive monarchist were it not for Bismarck. They are none so blind as those who will not see. And Bismarck will not see that the line of bosses known as kings lag superfluous upon this mundane sphere.

The rescript above referred to, dated January 4, and countersigned by Prince Bismarck, and addressed to the Prussian Ministry, is as follows:

"The right of the King to direct the government and policy of Prussia in accordance with his own judgment is restricted, not abrogated, by the constitution. The official acts of the King require the counter signature of a minister, and are carried out by his ministers, but they remain the official acts of the King, in whose resolve they originate, and who in them gives constitutional expression of his will. Therefore it is not permissable to represent their exercise as proceeding from responsible ministers. The Prussian constitution is the expression of the monarchical tradition of this country, whose development rests on the living relations of its Kings to the people. These relations cannot be transferred to ministers, because they appertain to the person to the King, and their maintenance is necessary for Prussia.

"It is, therefore, my will that in Prussia, and also in the legislative bodies of the Empire, no doubt will be left to attach to my constitutional right, or that of my successors, to direct personally the policy of the Government. It is the duty of my ministers to support my constitutional rights by protecting them from doubt and obscurity, and I expect the same from all officials who have taken the oath of loyalty to me. I am far from wishing to restrict the freedom of elections, but the functionaries intrusted with the execution of my official acts are bound to support the policy of my Government even at the elections. I shall acknowledge the skillful discharge of this duty and shall expect all officials, remembering their oath of allegiance, to hold aloof even at the elections from all agitation against my Government."

A Duel Averted

"The man who stole that fiddle is a liar, and I can whip him!" angrily exclaimed a man from Fourche mountains approaching a body of men and regarding them curiously. "I came to town this mornin', an' some feller's stole my fiddle. The man who done it is a liar."

"What sort of a fiddle was it?" asked a man whose skin looked as though he had just recovered from swamp fever.

"Why, it was a first class instrument with fine rattlesnake rattles on the inside."

"Where did you get it?"

"I bought it from an old man, Bigley. He [illegible] man who stole it is a liar [illegible] can whip him."

"See here, mister, maybe the man that stole it is not a liar and maybe you can't whip him."

"Yes he's a liar an' I can whip any man what would steal a fiddle of that make."

"Now, you are puttin' it too broad. My father stole a fiddle from the old man Bigley ten years ago. Do you mean to say that my father is a liar and that you can whip him?"

"Are you certain that he stole a fiddle from the old man?"

"Yes."

"Then what I say goes."

Just then a man weighing about two hundred pounds pulled off his coat and said:

"I'm your father, an' I John."

"Yes," replied John.

"I stole that fiddle. I never told a lie in my life an' I don't recollect that anybody ever whipped me." He looked at the man whose fiddle had been stolen and asked: "Am I a liar?"

"Now here you fellows have mis understood me. So you stole a fiddle from the old man, did you?"

"Yes."

"Well I'd be much obliged to you if you'd hook me one."

Thus you see a bloody Arkansas duel was averted.

MR PATTERSON MEANT WHAT HE SAID

The following tribute to a well known and meritorious preparation will be read with pleasure by all who are suffering from pulmonary complaints themselves or have friends so afflicted:

I hereby certify that my boy, ten years of age, was taken sick with typhoid fever, followed by congestion of the lungs. Dr. Dyer, an eminent physician of this place stated that he thought the boy would run down with QUICK CONSUMPTION. A Mr Patterson told me that COE'S COUGH BALSAM was curing similar cases and advised me to purchase it. When I carried it home my wife laughed at me, but I knew that Mr Patterson MEANT JUST WHAT HE SAID, and I determined to try it. Two bottles effectually cured him, so that now he is as tough and healthy as anybody. LYMAN FORMAN.

My children were all seriously troubled with Whooping Cough. We treated them with regularly prescribed medicines with Homeopathic specifics, etc with but little or no relief until we gave them Coe's Cough Balsam, which immediately assisted nature to restore them to health. I truly believe it the best medicine in the world for Whooping Cough.

In the Whole History of Medicine

No preparation has ever performed such marvellous cures, or maintained so wide a reputation as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long-continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in throat and chest disorders, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and operation, physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and clergymen recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its healing effects, and will always cure where cures are possible.

TUESDAY EVENING, JAN. 17, 1882.

B. K. HAMSHER. J. R. MOSSER.
HAMSHER & MOSSER, Propri't'rs.
DECATUR, ILLINOIS.

YESTERDAY was the forty-fifth day of the Guiteau trial.

ACCORDING to the reports received by the state board of health, small-pox exists at eighty-two places in Illinois.

THE 200th anniversary of the discovery of the Mississippi river by the great discoverer and explorer, La Salle, is to be celebrated at New Orleans on the 9th of April next.

SCOVILLE is getting his dander up. He has sued the Chicago Morning Herald for libel, that paper having stated that he was guilty of swindling a friend out of borrowed money.

A PLAN for the utilization of the desert lands in Colorado has been prepared by Congressman Belford, of that state, by which it is proposed to sell or lease them for a nominal sum to those who will redeem them for agricultural purposes.

THE congressional committee having in charge the matter of compensation to the physicians and others having claims for services or expenses in connection with the illness and funeral of President Garfield, has decided to request all such to make out and present their bills in regular business form by the 10th of February.

CONTRARY to the usual order of railway affairs in the winter season, the announcement is made of a reduction in west-bound freight rates from Boston and New York, by the different fast freight lines. Before the railroad war began, the rate on first-class freight was 75 cents per 100 pounds, from Boston to Chicago. At the opening of the new year the rate had declined to 45 cents, and yesterday it was again reduced to 30 cents.

THE Methodist Church at Urbana, Ill., is having trouble. Its pastor, Rev. James Miller, is said to be a popular preacher, of somewhat liberal views, who has incurred the hostility of certain of the membership, who profess what is called "complete sanctification." These dissatisfied parishioners among whom is Rev. Arthur Bradshaw, formerly of Decatur—claim that the pastor preaches unmethodistic doctrines, and they propose to prefer charges against him.

THE Chicago people are quite exercised again over an act of the courts giving to a bloody murderer another chance to escape punishment. The Journal of yesterday thus discourses upon the subject:

"The case of the colored man "Prince Albert" Jones, who killed his brother in this city two or three years ago, is a striking illustration of the farcical character of our criminal jurisprudence under the present laws. First, he was tried and convicted of "manslaughter," and sentenced to fifteen years in the State Penitentiary. Judge Tuley set this verdict aside, giving Jones a new trial. A new trial was accordingly had, resulting in his conviction of murder and sentencing him to the penitentiary for life. Now Judge Rogers again sets the verdict aside, granting the miserable fratricide another trial. Is there any wonder that public sentiment is setting strongly toward the lynch-law method of disposing of great criminals? Is there any wonder that the question is asked on every hand. Are our criminal laws and our courts designed for the protection of society from criminal depredations, or for the protection of the criminals? There is good reason for this inquiry.

SENATOR LOGAN yesterday introduced a bill to pay Mrs. Abraham Lincoln arrears of pension for the five years intervening between the death of her husband and the passage of an act granting her a pension (the estimated total amount being $15,000), and asked immediate consideration. Mr. Blair, of the pension committee, suggested a reference of the measure to that committee. A subsequent dispatch from Washington says:

Some of the Republican senators are censuring Messrs. Ingalls and Blair for having delayed action upon the bill to grant Mrs. Lincoln a pension. Senator Farley, of California, informed the Republicans that the Democrats had no objection to offer, and that they would unite in putting the bill through. Senator Ingalls very emphatically disclaimed any idea of opposing the resolution. Indeed, he expressed hearty approval of it. He thought the bill did not allow enough, and that, as the pension committee had the subject under consideration, it had better go over. Mr. Blair also suggested that as the matter was before the committee, it would be better to wait. The senators who were urging immediate action say that Mrs. Lincoln's needs are pressing, and delay will inconvenience her very much, and some indignation has been expressed by them at being defeated in their purpose by objections from the Republican side of the senate.

It is altogether probable that the bill will pass without much opposition.

A RIGHTEOUS DECISION.

Judge Smith's decision in the Davis cases, in which he overruled the motion for a change of venue, will be generally regarded by the people as entirely justified by the facts. If the theory of the defense were to prevail no criminal could be tried in the county in which the crime was committed, provided the local press did its plain duty in denouncing the deed and telling the truth about its perpetrator. This would be placing the people at a disadvantage, and giving to the criminal every possible chance to escape the punishment his deeds merit. It is high time that there was a little more attention paid by legislatures and courts and juries to the rights of peaceable and law-abiding citizens, and less maudlin sympathy wasted on those who deliberately choose to follow a life of crime. For many years our courts and legislatures have been apparently vieing with each other in an attempt to see which could open the most loopholes through which violators of the law might march unwhipped of justice. What with supersedeases, new trials, suspensions of judgment, changes of venue and other like devices, the punishment of notorious criminals has been the exception rather than the rule. This being true, we are glad that a circuit judge in Macon county has felt it to be his duty under the law to interpose his prerogative and sit down on a scheme to defeat justice.

What Slavery Cost Missouri.

Alton Telegraph.

A comparison of the relative growth of Illinois and Missouri between the years 1820 and 1860, strikingly illustrates the withering effect of slavery upon the growth of the latter State. There is little question but what, had Missouri been a Free State, she would have outstripped Illinois in the race for empire. But the fatal virus of slavery poisoned the enterprise of her people; repelled the better class of emigrants, and enabled the rival State of Illinois to seize and hold the scepter of supremacy. In this connection, a comparison of the relative progress of Illinois and Missouri between 1820 and 1860, as shown by the Federal census, is of great interest.

In 1820 Illinois had a population of 55,162, and Missouri 66,557. In 1860 Illinois had a population of 1,711,951, and Missouri 1,182,612, 529,339 less than Illinois; and of Missouri's population 114,931 were slaves. Had Missouri, a Slave State, increased at the same per cent. from 1820 to 1860 as Illinois, she would have had a population in 1860 of 2,450,000—more than double her actual population at that time. Taking the converse of the proposition, had Illinois merely increased from 1820 to 1860 at the per cent. of Missouri, her population would have been only 1,098,090 in 1860, or 613,861 less than she increased under a free constitution. In other words, slavery cost Missouri in forty years over a million inhabitants, while freedom gained for Illinois 631,861 inhabitants.

But the curse of slavery for Missouri did not end with the loss of wealth and population. The breaking out of the war divided her people into two opposing camps, and for four years the State was a battle-ground, the scene of the movements of great armies and the favorite field of guerillas, border-ruffians, and jayhawkers. Of course, all increase of population or aggregation of wealth was paralyzed by the war, and, after its close, the sullen, apathetic and jealous spirit infused into its people by the slavery leprosy repelled immigration and prevented the development of the magnificent mineral and agricultural resources of the State. The loss to Missouri in population by the adoption of a slave constitution can be approximately estimated, but the loss in wealth and material progress is beyond calculation.

A GREAT many eminent editors are still exercised over the Cabinet. First they have Sargent for Secretary of the Interior, then they have Sargent indignant because he is not appointed, and driving up to the White House to ask the President what he means by it. They will not believe that all this is none of their business, that the President should select his personal advisers as he pleases, and that he, and not they, is responsible to the country for the success or failure of this administration. Mr. Sargent is an able man and a sterling Republican. If the President wishes to bring him into his counsels there can be no valid objection; if he does not want to do so, Mr. Sargent is not the man to crowd himself in, and if he were, the President will not permit that kind of business. This howl against the President for appointing or not appointing certain men to Cabinet places would be out of place anywhere; it is very much so among persons pretending to be Republicans.—Inter Ocean.

THE Leavenworth Times, speaking of the election of Senator Wilson, of Iowa, says: "This will call into public life once more one of the most ready and polished debaters, thorough parliamentarians, devoted friend of his constituents, and withal one of the brainiest men that ever represented that state in the national house of representatives."

FRENCH people do not seem to approve of the so-called estheticism, as will be seen by the following comments of a prominent Paris journalist:

These eccentric beings affect a profound disdain for the usages and customs of our poor planet. Their language and attitudes are marked by an exhausted and languid melancholy. Their costume is by no means dictated by any of the ordinary modes, but is copied from a statue or celebrated picture. Sometimes they recall Greece or Rome, but oftener nothing in particular. Let us take care that this malady does not reach us here in France. Already we have seen a young woman, famous for her beauty, her large dark eyes and glorious chestnut hair, appear in an indefinite costume of China crape, strangely draped and oddly twisted. A gold belt surrounded the waist, and a heavy gold fringe which edged the dress rendered it still more clinging by making the folds heavy. Why pose as a sphinx in an assembly of indifferent people? Why let it be guessed that one has a propensity for the eccentric? It is in much better taste to allow oneself to be remarkable only for beauty, grace or simplicity. To be different from all the world appears to us to be a heavy burden for a woman to bear, especially if she be a young girl. Let us hope that these eccentricities of beyond the channel may not succeed in injuring the delicate taste of our Parisian women.

BRONSON ALCOTT calls upon his fellow citizens to give up the use of animal food. "All pure poets," he says, "have abstained almost entirely from animal food. Every animal feeder is sometimes a tyrant. If one would abate that fate, he must omit it entirely, but by a gradual process. Compare a table of the present day with that spread by the hands of Eve in Paradise to feed her ethereal guests. Then was gathered together a feast of the purest, a banquet of right. We are composed of atoms, and every atom must be musical and tremulous with harmony to give the body that harmony that is musical." And, of course, a man who is composed of atoms of cow and turkey and clams cannot reasonably hope to be tremulous with harmony.

The Violin for Girls.

A correspondent writes to the Queen: "I do not know whether it made much way in the provinces, of which my acquaintance and experience are small, but in and about London, for 20 miles around, there is hardly a large family, blessed with an average endowment of girls, in which one of them is not learned or destined to learn the violin. I often attend the practices or concerts given by amateur musical societies in and around London, and generally find young ladies among the ranks of the violin players. On all sides there is abundant evidence that the movement is general and strong. The violin dealers and masters tell the same story, and I cannot doubt that ten years hence the violin will be far more common in the hands of young ladies than it was in former days among their fathers and uncles."

Tissue-Ballot Talk.

Washington Republican.

Hon. W. R. Morrison, of Illinois, and General C. J. Stolbrand, of South Carolina, were within ear-shot of a Republican reporter at Willard's Hotel, on Saturday night, who overheard the following colloquy:

Morrison—Some one has sent me a specimen of the tissue-ballots used against you in the late election. You must have a rough set in your State?

Stolbrand—Yes; but they are all members of the Democratic party.

Morrison—But you have bad men in your party, too.

Stolbrand—We did have; but our rascals long since fled the State for the State's good, while the Democratic rascals still remain, and have cheek enough to try to retain seats in Congress by means of tissue ballots.

Mr Morrison assumed a reflective mood, and passed on.

COMPLAINTS come from England that the anxious exclamation, "What is your step?" is heard in ball rooms more than ever. This anxiety is not misplaced, for the sight is a very ludicrous one when the devotee of the "rockaway" pairs off with a disciple of the trois temps, or when a "hopper" finds himself encircling the waist of a "chandelier crawler." The latter seems to be less in favor this year. Rapid dancing is becoming more popular, and the few votaries of the languid style are obliged to keep more closely under the chandelier than ever in order to be out of the way of possible collision.

GEORGE W. CHILD's collection of clocks, at his residence in Philadelphia, foreign and domestic, is said to be valued at $30,000. For one of them encased in onyx and verde antique and crowned by a female figure in silver, Mr. Childs paid $5,000.

California's Mighty Grape Crop.

From the St. Louis Republican.

It is said that 20,000 acres of new vineyards were planted in California last year. The vines planted are generally of the finer foreign varieties. The wine produced last year fell off 2,000,000 gallons in consequence of the injuries to the grape crop by frost. The character of the California wines has completely changed in the last four years owing to the improved knowledge of fermenting processes and the discovery of the adaptation of varieties of grapes to soil and locality.

THE World Mutual Relief Association, a graveyard insurance concern of Pennsylvania, has been dissolved by judicial process. It had issued policies representing over $13,000,000. The three largest companies in that state had previously been swept away by the courts.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

SCOVILLE'S SAY.

He Talks All Day, and Says Nothing New,

But Claims that he has Been Misused.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—As soon as the court formally opened, Mr. Scoville began his address to the jury by confessing his unfamiliarity with the modes of practice in criminal cases. All the defense asked for was a fair, candid, impartial weighing of the evidence by fair and candid men. Counsel would attempt no oratory because he was not equal to it, and because he would not do it if he could. He would address himself simply to the reason, judgment and intellect of the jury. Oratory, eloquence and appeals to passion he would leave for the counsel who would follow him (Judge Porter), and he desired to warn them that in the efforts of the learned counsel (Judge Porter) to expound the law or explain the evidence, he would invariably seek to influence them through their emotions; to touch their heart sand sway their sympathies, rather than to convince their judgments. I do not care to complain, although I do not think, as counsel in the conduct of this case, I have been treated with fairness. Personally I care nothing for it, but when it injures the cause in which my efforts are enlisted, then I must complain. I hold in my hand an indictment for conspiracy, which I have framed in my own mind, and the object of this conspiracy was to hang the prisoner. Scoville then proceeded to name the conspirators. The District Attorney, Judge Porter, Mr. Davidge, and five of the government experts, namely, Drs. Gray, Hamilton, Kempster, McDonald and Wooster. The counts of this indictment, twenty in number, are "First, they have perverted the law in this case." Scoville, in illustration or support of this count, alluded to the introduction by Judge Porter of the decision of Judge Davis in a New York case. He said: "Counsel upon the other side indignantly repudiated the suggestion that Judge Davis sat with Cardozo or Barnard, but I have yet to learn if either of them ever committed a more reprehensible act than that of Judge Davis." Scoville warmed up with his subject, and denounced in severe language the extra judicial act of Judge Davis. "Had a newspaper been guilty of such a bold-faced attempt to influence the decision in a pending cause, the editor would have been subject to arrest for contempt."

Judge Porter—Don't let us turn this court room into a town meeting.

Scoville resumed, but was soon interrupted by Davidge, who, with some impatience, said: "Oh, no, no, Scoville, that's not so."

Scoville—You may interrupt as much as you please, I shall not be deterred from saying just what I believe to be the truth.

Davidge—Well, well, I'll not interrupt again, say what you may.

Guiteau—That's right, Davidge: you keep quiet. You talked for two days and didn't say anything either; now give some one else a show.

Scoville continued: "When Judge Porter comes before this jury and undertakes to pervert evidence, I shall not keep quiet, as I did with Davidge, but I shall stop him."

Guiteau—So shall I.

Scoville—I shall stop him, and I shall correct him, if I find he is misstating evidence.

Guiteau—Never mind. I'll attend to him.

Judge Porter—There will be two Guiteaus then to attend to me.

Mr. Scoville continued: "The prosecution states that if the prisoner knew the act was wrong on July 2, then he should hang. Now this is not by any means the whole of it, or a correct statement of the law. The court has added in substance as follows: 'Yet if in this act he was overpowered by a consciousness coming through his diseased mind that what he was doing was necessary for the good of the country and was specially approved by God, then you cannot convict him of murder.'" Continuing, Scoville said the second count in this indictment is a perversion of the testimony and he proceeded to sustain this count by reading from Davidge's speech and comparing it with the testimony.

"Oh, that's for money," called out Guiteau. "He is paid for that. He don't believe it."

Scoville contended that the facts were perverted, and particularly the evidence, as to the immorality of the prisoner. "The only allegation that will hold against him is that of adultery."

Guiteau shouted out "How many innocent people are there in this court room?" and he added, "Not one." A moment later he called out "I don't care to libel the Christian people, but I want the record straight. I say high-toned Christian men and women are virtuous, but the mass of mankind are not. Let that go on the record."

As Scoville paused, Guiteau raised a laugh by calling out. "Ain't that a pretty good place to stop, Scoville? It is most half past 12: let's have a recess."

A recess was taken for thirty minutes.

Judge Porter said he would be unable, owing to the condition of his health, to remain this afternoon, but he desired Scoville not to abstain for that reason from saying anything he desired to say.

After recess, Scoville proceeded to point out to the jury what he termed perversion of evidence by Davidge. Judge Porter's seat was vacant, while Davidge indicated by his appearance that he wished he was also. Scoville having intimated that he desired to criticize the conduct of the District Attorney as chief partner in this conspiracy, as alleged by him, to hang the prisoner, but would not do so in his absence, as he was not in the habit of saying things behind one's back. Col. Corkhill was sent for by a brother counsel, and he reluctantly came into court, abandoning the rest he was seeking.

"I haven't," he said, "the slightest interest in anything he may say against me; however, I will come in to give him an opportunity to abuse me."

Scoville dwelt at great length upon what Davidge termed immaterial matters, who remarked the disposition of counsel to consume time needlessly.

Scoville retorted that he did not propose to have matters of fact which were contained in the record before the jury willfully perverted or enveloped in artificial obscurity.

Guiteau—That's right; stand by the record. Davidge had better read my speech. It is published in all the leading papers of America this morning, and takes up a whole page.

Scoville attacked the theory of the prosecution, that it was the prisoner's own innate or acquired depravity that naturally led up to the killing of the President, and discussed at some length the evidence introduced by them to show instances of the prisoner's meanness and depravity. This evidence, said Scoville, has, in almost every instance, been perverted. He then alluded to the evidence relative to the prisoner obtaining money from Rev. Dr. McArthur, and giving his note for it.

Guiteau observed: If McArthur will send his note down, I'll cash it now.

Scoville continued: They brought a man here at an expense of $150 to show the moral turpitude of the prisoner, and what was the effect of his evidence?

Guiteau—To prove that I pay my debts.

Scoville—He testified that Guiteau paid him $30 for a desk, just what he contracted to pay him, and that is all there was in the testimony to show moral turpitude. Scoville reviewed at great length the incidents of the prisoner's getting English out of jail in New York. The prosecution laid great stress on this incident as showing the rascality of the prisoner, but in his (Scoville's) opinion Guiteau had earned his money in this case, and there was nothing whatever in the transaction to his (Guiteau's) discredit.

Guiteau tried once or twice and finally succeeded in making himself heard, and said: In relation to this incident I want to say just here, the reason I had so much trouble in getting English out of jail was that he was a fraud, and Winston and the Mutual Life were dead against him, and did not want him to get out of jail. I had all the money of the Mutual life to work against in the sheriff's office, and I never would have gotten him out if I hadn't hung to the case like a dog to a piece of meat; that's the way I do when I start on anything.

Scoville continued. Counsel parade here the debts owed by the prisoner, and attempt to make much of them in this chain they are weaving.

Guiteau—I owe about $1,000, and I suppose that ought to hang a man. If these people will send in their bills now I'll give them checks for them and get them out of the way. I suppose I've got some money now. I'll get rid of these people and then I won't owe anybody.

Scoville then alluded to the incident sworn to by Shaw of Guiteau pawning a worthless watch for $25.

Guiteau shouted: "Oh, you better stop on Shaw; p-s-h-a-w, I mean." And added, "That was meant for a pun, but they don't seem to see it."

Scoville denounced the witness Shaw. He believed that he had deliberately perjured himself in this case, as had "the contemptible little Jew clerk who came down here to help Shaw out."

Guiteau screamed out, "This whole testimony of Shaw is false, and no decent man would believe it for an instant."

As the court was about to adjourn, Guiteau called out: "I desire, your honor, to read my speech to-night, so that I can discuss it with you to-morrow."

Adjourned until to-morrow.

NEW YORK, January 16.—Frank Burr, the engineer of the Tarrytown train which collided with the Chicago express on Friday evening last, to-day made the following statement to Coroner Merkle:

"We left Tarrytown at 6:40 p. m., five minutes behind the regular time, because of waiting for the Chicago express to pass. It went by Tarrytown at 6.35, stopped at Spuyten Duyvil at 7:14, and, according to the time-board, we were thirteen minutes behind the Chicago express. After leaving Spuyten, we entered the cut, going at a speed of eighteen or twenty miles an hour. There were no danger or warning signals ahead of me, and I passed on to the curve, looking ahead all the time. I saw a flagman with a red and white light in either hand. He was swinging the red light across the down track. At the same time I saw a red light at the rear of train No. 6. before me. When I first saw the red light the flagman giving signal was not more than two car lengths ahead of me, and the train was not more than thirty five feet distant from him. I had a train of three cars, and immediately put on the air brakes, reversed the engine, pulled throttle wide open, blew the whistle, and did all in my power to come to a stop, but failed to do so in time to prevent the accident. I remained at my post until the train stopped, and assisted in extricating the injured passengers. The engine smashed through the rear car."

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 16.—Another swarm of negroes arrived in this city yesterday direct from South Carolina. They will proceed to various portions of South Arkansas, and will rent land and cultivate cotton. The planters in that section of Arkansas express themselves as being highly pleased with their advent, and promise them a warm welcome, and that every means will be extended to enable them to make a comfortable living. Laborers are somewhat scarce there, and hence the negroes have reached the State at an auspicious period. The new arrivals say that the exodus has only fairly begun, and that at least 8,000 negroes will leave South Carolina this year and seek homes in Arkansas.

Scientific Advancement.

Scientific advancement, it has been remarked, has been slower and less noticeable in the care of the sick and the treatment of disease than in any other department of human knowledge. The life or death of a patient is too frequently a mere matter of accident or chance. Some great discoveries, however, have been made and certain remedies are known and used with almost infallible curative results. Such a remedy is TARAXINE where a deranged liver is involved, or where disease of the Bowels, Kidneys or Spleen prevail. Dr. A. J. Stoner, Agent. 3

THE MRS. DAVIS CASES.

The Madame's Petition for a Change of Venue Denied—The Gist of the Decision.

In the circuit court on Monday afternoon State's Attorney Johns presented the law points bearing on the petition for a change of venue in the cases of The People against Mrs. Elizabeth Davis, late of "Idlewild," who is indicted for making an assault on Jack Lahey with intent to kill; keeping a nuisance; for keeping a house of ill fame, and for selling liquor without license. The petition, which contains every line that has been written about Mrs. Davis and published in each of the Decatur papers since Lahey was shot, as has already been stated, was presented on Friday afternoon by J. A. Buckingham. In that petition it was prayed by the defendant that she be granted a change of venue to another county because of the alleged fact that she could not secure a fair and impartial trial in this county, on account of the alleged prejudice that had been fixed in the minds of the people of the city and county by the publication of said articles and comments in Decatur papers. To offset this claim Mr. Johns, with commendable activity, assisted by Sheriff Foster, caused to be printed a lot of blank affidavits, and although the time was short—only one day—417 of these affidavits were sworn to and signed by as many residents of this city and county, who swore that they had no prejudice against the defendant and believed that she could secure a free and impartial trial in Macon county. This pile of affidavits—nearly three hundred of which were made by people residing outside of Decatur—was presented last evening, and this (Tuesday) morning Mr. Buckingham cited points of law in favor of the defendant's petition and made comments thereon, Mr. Hutchison, also of counsel for the defendant, offering a few suggestions.

THE PETITION NOT GRANTED.

The petition was then submitted to his Honor Judge Smith for his decision. The court room was nearly filled with spectators, who paid close attention to the remarks of the Judge, which were delivered extemporaneously. He spoke of the necessity of newspapers in every county, and the influence for good or evil they exerted. Publishers considered it their duty to publish accounts of events transpiring in their midst and it is the custom to make comments thereon. The defendant had alleged in her petition that there was a strong prejudice among the people in Macon county against her on account of the publication of the articles named and the comments, but the numerous affidavits presented by the People was convincing proof that the alleged prejudice against the defendant does not exist to the extent as set forth in the petition; and thereupon the court announced that the prayer for a change of venue in the cases against Mrs. Davis is not granted.

Another Crazy Man.

In the county court before Judge Greer on Monday afternoon, a jury composed of Dr. L. H. Clark, J. C. Clay, C. H. Clark, C. D. Howell, Silas Livergood and A. L. Vowel, was called to examine into the alleged insanity of Robert Flore, aged 58 years, who has lived in Blue Mound township for a number of years. The jury returned a verdict declaring Flore insane, malarial fever being assigned as the cause of the old man's malady. He has been acting queerly for 12 months. Mr. Flore is a pauper, and will be sent to the state asylum at Jacksonville for treatment as soon as arrangements can be perfected for his admission.

Another Horse Stolen.

Mr. Jerry Ferguson, who resides about five miles south of Niantic, reached Decatur yesterday, and reported that he believed one Bill Watkins had stolen his missing horse, which he values at $125. Mr. Ferguson rode to Niantic on Wednesday last astride his horse, and then as he had been his custom, he turned the equine loose to go back home riderless as he had often done before. But the horse was picked up on the way by a man who rode him past Mr. Delaney's farm house. The Delaney's recognized the horse as Ferguson's and the description of the man riding the animal tallies with that of Watkins so perfectly that Mr. Ferguson feels certain that he has spotted the right party. Watkins disappeared on Wednesday and Ferguson with the assistance of Sheriff Foster has learned that the young man traded the horse to some farmer between Niantic and Decatur for a roan animal and twelve dollars in cash. Then he brought the roan to this city and sold him and Ferguson's saddle and bridle for $10. The saddle and bridle have been found by the sheriff, who has learned that Watkins left Decatur for the east over the Illinois Midland railway on Thursday evening last, but his present whereabouts are unknown.

The Old Story.

Saturday last a young man named Reed and Charles Matthews went out hunting, four miles east of Decatur, one armed with a cranky old pistol and the other with a shot gun in good trim. The pistol was loaded with a charge of shot but it seemed to be in a sulky mood, and while it would snap a cap nice enough, the powder wouldn't "catch on," and hence young Matthews was low spirited because it was the only weapon he had, and as a consequence he lost all interest in the hunting expedition. Finally Reed took the pistol and at the first attempt it went off with a loud report, but about a dozen of the shot accidentally entered Matthews left arm, making painful flesh wounds. Matthews danced around lively and thought his last moments had come, but on Monday he came to Decatur with that arm swollen to twice its size and Doctor Walston dressed it for him. The arm is represented as being in a very bad shape. It is reasonable to conclude that hereafter Reed, and especially Matthews, will stop fooling with old pistols.

The Leonard Bal Masque.

The Peoria lady costumer has arrived in Decatur, and costumes for the Prof. Leonard masquerade can be seen at the Guards' Armory for the next two days—both forenoon and afternoon. Owing to the increased expenses attending this party, the price of admission Thursday evening will be $1.00 for each gentleman and ladies, and a handsome prize will be given to the best masked person. No assembly next week.

PEOPLE'S DOCKET.

The People vs. Chas. Hines: larceny. Plea of not guilty withdrawn, and the defendant, who is just past 13 years of age, was sentenced to the Pontiac Reform School for 18 months on pleading guilty to the first count.

[illegible] CHANGE OF VENUE CASES.

The People vs. Mrs. Elizabeth Davis: four cases: indicted for keeping house of ill-fame; selling liquor without license; assault with intent to murder, and for keeping a nuisance. Motion for a change of venue in each case overruled.

The People vs. Robert Brown: selling liquor without license near the Wood-street crossing of the Illinois Central railroad. Defendant arraigned and pleaded guilty to three counts in the indictment; nolle entered as to all other counts. Brown was fined $20 and costs on each of three counts and ordered to stand committed until fine and costs are paid.

The People vs. George Murray and Patrick Dempsey; burglary and larceny. These parties are charged with having stolen cooper tools from Daniel Moore's shop in this city during the past year. George Murray withdrew his plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to the first count, a nolle being entered to other counts as to Murray, and sentence reserved. Patrick Dempsey had previously pleaded not guilty. Trial by jury; verdict not guilty, and defendant discharged.

DAVID MARTIN'S ENTERPRISE.

A Few Words About Lime and a Prosperous Decatur Institution.

"We thank thee, Thaddeus,
Without thine aid we had failed
To attain that prosperity which now attends us."

These lines are suggested by the prevailing disposition upon the part of the contractors, builders and bricklayers of Decatur to give expression to their appreciation of the business tact, persistent energy and untiring zeal exhibited by the Delphi Lime Company, of Delphi, Indiana, in overcoming the immense difficulties attending the manufacture and shipping of their lime in sufficient quantities to meet the unprecedented demand precipitated upon them by the tremendous building boom of the year just closed.

Our men here who are directly interested in the labor of building feel specially complimented, inasmuch as Decatur was about the only city in the state that did not suffer the annoyances, delays and pecuniary losses incident to the cessation of work on account of the "no lime" cry of dealers in that important element of their labor.

When it is understood that the lime made by the Delphi Co. is generally recognized throughout the west as the only lime possessing the peculiar qualities that go to make a brick wall stand like "adamantine rock" or something similar—then some idea of the amount necessary to supply the demands of an ordinary year can be scarcely realized, but let this demand be increased ten-fold, as was the case the past year, coupled this extraordinary demand to a scarcity of wood wherewith to burn the lime, coal not being used as its gases seriously impair the cohesive properties of lime, and the magnitude of the business with its cares and troubles cannot be realized at all.

It is creditable to the Decatur bricklayers that they appreciate all these facts, and that while their brethren elsewhere were idle they never lost an hour from the time the first brick was laid last spring until "the ringing note of the resonant trowel" was hushed by the winter's icy blast, or words to that effect.

No doubt the attention of the Delphi and other lime companies has been attracted to the excellent facilities for taking care of and handling lime afforded at this point by the enterprise of Mr. Martin, who has expended five or six thousand dollars in the construction of lime houses upon scientific principles, specially adapted to preserve the perishable qualities of this article for the longest possible time, and that their lime is sure to reach the consumer in the best possible condition, and in consequence lime companies are [illegible] to compete [illegible] both in quality and quantity. Mr. Martin seems to have excited the jealousies of small-minded dealers elsewhere who envy him his success in this regard, and who continually write to Delphi, Huntington and Sandusky, asking for exclusive sale for their limes, a thing that Mr. Martin has never done, as his ideas of business are founded upon just dealings, honorable methods and careful handling of lime that has brought him the reward of legitimately attending to his own business and secured for him the confidence and esteem of manufacturers to that degree that they take pleasure in keeping him posted upon the efforts of these busybodies to undermine him, at Decatur.

We close this article by stating that at no time since 1865 has the capacity of producers of lime been so severely taxed as during the past year. In 1865 the scarcity of kilns advanced the price of lime from 25 cents to 40 cents per bushel. In 1881 the scarcity of wood was quite as serious as the other, yet lime was not advanced in Decatur. We congratulate all hands, builders, plasterers, dealers and manufacturers, upon this point, and sincerely hope that the indications of business prosperity that are around us now will be augmented and increased the coming year, without any more annoyances and delays than attended them last year.

Mrs. Rev. Villars.

The other day we published a short sketch of the alleged trouble among the Methodist brethren at Mattoon, because the pastor of the charge there, Rev. I. Villars, desired to have his accomplished wife preach in his pulpit on the evening of Sunday, Jan. 8th. The church board objected to this proposition and lady did not preach that night, but now comes the following telegram which appeared in today's St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

MATTOON, Ill., Jan. 15. The difficulties of the M. E. congregation, in this city, do not seem to have grown much less during the past week. Mrs. Villars preached an able sermon last night to a crowded house and those who opposed the woman's speaking seemed to have gotten the worst of the fight, [illegible] over.

TRUSTEE'S SALE.

Whereas, Thomas B. Adkisson and Elizabeth Adkisson, his wife, Horace Adkisson and Corrilia Adkisson, on the first day of June A. D. 1874, made their certain deed of trust whereby they conveyed to Charles F. Emery trustee, certain real estate in said deed of trust described, to secure payment of one promissory note of said Thomas B. Adkisson and Corrilia Adkisson, of even date therewith, for the sum of two thousand dollars, payable five years after date to the order of Albigence H. Brown, with interest at ten per cent. per annum; which deed of trust is recorded in the Recorder's office of DeWitt county, State of Illinois, in Book 14 of Mortgages, page 201, and upon which note and deed of trust there will be due January 20th, 1882, the sum of $3045 66; and whereas, said deed of trust provides that upon failure to pay or cause to be paid any part of said principal sum secured by said promissory note when due, on application of the legal holder thereof said Charles F. Emery, after publishing notice three weeks in some newspaper published in the city of Decatur, Macon county, Illinois, shall sell said premises; and whereas, in consideration of payments heretofore made upon said promissory note, all that part of said premises not hereinafter described has been released from said deed of trust; and whereas, default has been made in the payment of the above-mentioned amount balance of said promissory note, and the legal holder thereof, having made application to the undersigned to advertise and sell all of said premises not heretofore released from said deed of trust. Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, shall, on Friday, the 20th day of January, A. D. 1882, at the hour of 12 o'clock noon, at the west outside door of the Court House, in the city of Decatur, county of Macon and State of Illinois, offer for sale to the highest bidder, for cash in hand, the following parts and parcels of the real estate in said deed of trust described, to-wit: Lot four (4), beginning three chains and fifty-three and one-half links east of a stone at the northwest corner of section thirty-four (34), township twenty (20), north, range two (2) east of the third principal meridian, on the east bank of Ten Mile creek to a stake at low water, thence south 48 deg 45 seconds east with the survey of the Clinton and Waynesville road eight chains and seventy links to a stake, thence south 58 deg 45 sec. east four chains and fourteen links to a stone, thence south 1 deg. 30 min. east four chains and forty-eight links to a stake, thence south sixteen chains and forty-four and three-fourths links to a stake, thence west ten chains and five links to a stake, thence north twenty-nine chains and two links to the place of beginning, containing twenty-five acres. Also beginning at a stone seven chains and fifty links west of the northwest corner of said section thirty-four, thence east eleven chains three and one-half links, thence south forty chains to the south line of the northwest quarter of said section thirty-four to a stake, thence west eleven chains three and one-half links to a stake, thence north forty chains to the place of beginning, except from said last described tract the following: Beginning at a stone on the south side of the Clinton and Springfield road 87 rods west of the east line of the northeast quarter of section thirty-three, township and range aforesaid, thence north 84 degs. east twenty-four and ninety-five hundredths rods with said road, thence south seventy-seven and thirty-four hundredths rods to the south line of said last mentioned quarter section, thence west twenty-two and fifty one hundredths rods with said line, thence north sixty-five and seventy-four hundredths rods to the place of beginning, and will make to the purchaser at such sale a good and sufficient deed of the premises sold.

The undersigned is informed and believes that Samuel Dunmire, Sylvanus Shurtleff, Paschal H. Mills, John Bishop, Jacob Vogel and Clifton H. Moore claim some interest in said premises subject to said deed of trust, and they are hereby notified that all right or equity they have in said premises will be foreclosed by sale thereof at the time and place above mentioned.

TRUSTEES' SALE.

Whereas, Henry W. Michener and Hannah Michener, on the 15th day of December, 1876, made their certain deed of trust, conveying to Peddecord & Burrows, trustees, the following described real estate, situate in the county of Macon and State of Illinois, to-wit: The east half of the northwest quarter of section seventeen, and the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section eight, all in township eighteen, north, range one east of the third principal meridian, to secure payment of one promissory note of the said Henry W. Michener, of even date therewith, for the sum of $2,000, payable five years after date to the order of Anna M. Backus, with interest at ten per cent. per annum, payable semi annually, which deed of trust is recorded in the Recorder's Office of Macon county, Illinois, in Book 39, Page 617; that at the maturity of said note time of payment thereof was extended to December, 15th, 1881;

And whereas, it is provided in said deed of trust that in case default shall be made in payment of said principal sum of money, or any part thereof, when the same becomes due and payable, on application of Anna M. Backus, or the legal holder of said note—having first given twenty days' notice by publishing the same in a newspaper printed in the county where the premises are situated—it shall be lawful for said party of the second part to sell said premises at public sale at such time and place as said party of the second part may appoint; and whereas, said principal note is past due and wholly unpaid, and upon which there will be due January 24th, A. D. 1882, the sum of $2,135 00, and said Anna M. Backus having made application to the undersigned to advertise and sell said premises under the provisions of said deed of trust. Now therefore, notice is hereby given that we the undersigned trustees, shall, on Friday, the 20th day of January, A. D. 1882, at the hour of 12 o'clock m., at the west outside door of the Court House, in the city of Decatur, county of Macon and State of Illinois, offer for sale to the highest bidder, for cash in hand, the above described premises, and upon making sale thereof, will make to the purchaser a good and sufficient deed therefor.

FOR COUGHS, COLDS, SORE THROAT, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, PNEUMONIA, CONSUMPTION and all Diseases of the THROAT, CHEST AND LUNGS.

BALSAM OF TOLU Has always been one of the most important weapons wielded by the MEDICAL FACULTY against the encroachments of COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, SORE THROAT, CONSUMPTION in its incipient and advanced stages, and all diseases of the THROAT, CHEST and LUNGS, but it has never been so advantageously compounded as in the celebrated TOLU, ROCK and RYE. In addition to its soothing Balsamic properties, it affords a diffusive stimulant and tonic, to build up the system after the cough has been relieved.

Put up in Quart Size Bottles for Family Use, Price, $1.00.

CAUTION! Do not be deceived by dealers who try to palm off upon you Rock and Rye in place of our TOLU, ROCK AND RYE, which is the ONLY MEDICATED article made—the genuine has a Private Die Proprietary Stamp on each bottle.

SPEER'S

PORT GRAPE WINE!

Used in the principal Churches for Communion purposes.

EXCELLENT FOR LADIES AND WEAKLY PERSONS AND THE AGED.

SPEER'S PORT GRAPE WINE,

FOUR YEARS OLD.

THIS CELEBRATED NATIVE WINE is made from the juice of the Oporto Grape, raised in this country. Its invaluable

Tonic and Strengthening Properties

are unsurpassed by any other Native Wine. Being the pure juice of the Grape, produced under Mr. Speer's own personal supervision, its purity and genuineness are guaranteed. The youngest child may partake of its generous qualities, and the weakest invalid use it to advantage. It is particularly beneficial to the aged and debilitated, and suited to the various ailments that affect the weaker sex. It is in every respect A WINE TO BE RELIED ON.

SPEER'S

P. J. SHERRY.

The P. J. SHERRY is a wine of Superior Character, and partakes of the rich qualities of the grape from which it is made. For Purity, Richness, Flavor and Medicinal Properties, it will be found unexcelled.

SPEER'S

P. J. BRANDY

This BRANDY stands unrivalled in this Country, being far superior for medicinal purposes.

IT IS A PURE distillation from the grape, and contains valuable medicinal properties.

It has a delicate flavor, similar to that of the grapes, from which it is distilled, and is in great favor among first-class families.

PARENTS of school children are very generally complying with the order of the State Board of Health requiring the vaccination of all pupils attending the public schools. The physicians are all supplied with the necessary blanks and will furnish the required certificates. It is hoped that by the 25th inst. pupils will have filed the necessary certificates with their teachers or the Superintendent.—After the Superintendent has entered the certificates they will be returned to the pupils for preservation, as they will be good in any part of the State should the pupils remove from the city.

A Monster Grain Elevator.

The Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific Railway Company have built a monster elevator at the Chicago end of the line, and it is now ready for filling, the work on the building being about completed. This large elevator is situated at the intersection of Thirty-third street and the South branch of the river. The building measures 344x103½ feet, and is 140 feet high. To this, on the north end, is added an engine and boiler house 72x36 feet. This contains three boilers, supplying an engine of 900 horse power, with a driving wheel 16 feet in diameter by 51 inches deep. There are three tracks entering the building, and the capacity of the elevator is to unload thirty cars at once. The building contains 20 elevators and two lines of steam-shovel shafting. The bin capacity of the elevator is 1,700,000 bushels, divided into 256 squares or boxes, which have a depth of 65 feet from the bottom of the hopper to the top line of grain. The shipping floor is supplied with ten enormous scales, and the receiving floor has the same number, with ten garners attached. The third floor is where the machinery is located, and from there the grain is dropped into the receivers and spouted to all parts of the house. The building is of brick, and the cupola is tinned in imitation of stone. The total estimated cost is $400,000.

Coal Oil at Your Door.

Let every one who dislikes to go to the store with the coal oil can, remember that they can have coal oil, gasoline, lamp burners, wicks, chimneys, etc., left at their door any day in the week by Mr. Gaspard Buziau. Mr. Buziau is well known to most of our people as an honest, industrious old man, and by patronizing him they will not only assist him, but at the same time secure the best of oils, as cheap or cheaper than they can be purchased at the stores. Mr. Buziau has a cart fitted up expressly for his business, and will make the rounds of the city every day. Everything pertaining to lamps and oil constantly on hand. Reserve your orders until he calls upon you.

Trouble at Atlanta.

Atlanta is a no-license town, on the Midland road, in Logan county, and it's a nice place; but there is trouble in Atlanta over the beer question, as will be observed on reading the following telegram from that town:

ATLANTA, ILL., Jan. 15.—Deputy U. S. Marshal Larison came up yesterday and served notices on ten more of our citizens, who will be required to go to Springfield to-morrow—some as principals and others as witnesses in the case now being investigated by the United States Grand Jury regarding the sale of beer here. Our city has been run on the no-license system for four years, and in the meantime many beer clubs have been formed to accommodate those who like the beverage, but with no intention of violating the revenue laws, but the Government seems to take a different view of the case.

She Got it Free of Charge.

Call at Stoner's drug store and get a sample bottle of Brown's Expectorant free of charge. It cures coughs, hoarseness, whooping cough, and consumption in its early stages.

It is a scientific preparation, admirably adapted for the cure of all throat and lung diseases. It is pleasant to take and entirely harmless.

Try it. It costs you nothing. Regular size bottles 50 cents and $1. For sale by Dr. A. J. STONER. July8d&w6m

HENRY BENNOY was engaged to marry Viola Van Houten, at Delaware, Ohio. He got intoxicated at a Fourth of July celebration to which he had taken her, and she refused to let him escort her home. He never returned to her, and soon married another girl. Viola now sues him for damages, and the courts will be called upon to decide whether her action on the occasion of his drunkenness amounted in law to releasing him from his marriage engagement.

SPEER'S PORT GRAPE WINE FOR WEAKLY PERSONS.—This excellent product of the grape is prescribed and used by the leading physicians in the country, when a generous and nourishing wine is desirable; especially for females, aged persons and consumptives; and by churches for communion. Hundreds of New York physicians have visited Speer's Vineyards and Wine Cellars, but twelve miles distant from New York, and are surprised to see the foreign Port Wine Grapes so successfully grown in this country. The unfermented Juice for churches is from the Oporto Grape preserved in its natural state just as it runs from the press. For sale by W. C. Armstrong. Jan. 2—d2w

A WARNING FROM THE SAWDUST RING.

The other day in Union Square,
I met my old friend Brown.
His face was deeply lined with care—
He seemed all broken down;
And yet he used to be a most Successful circus clown.

"Why aren't you on the road," asked I.
He turned on me a gaze
Of sad surprise; then heaved a sigh,
And said, "Alas!" the days
When I could get a date are gone:
Or, as they say in plays,

"I lag superfluous to the stage!"
"Why nonsense, Brown," said I;
"You surely have not reached the age
At which a man should die?"
"I've reached the age," quoth he, "at which
The sawdust will not fly!"

"It happened in this wise," said Brown:
"For twenty years or more
I earned my living as a clown,
Repeating o'er and o'er
The antiquated jokes you heard
When in your pinafore,

"At last it came into my head
'Twould be a glorious thing
If something novel could be said
Within a circus ring;
A brand new joke I therefore tried.
One luckless day to sing.

"And this is why you see me here;
For, when that joke they heard,
The people rose up on their ear,
As by one impulse stirred,
And threatened there to mob the show;
They did, upon my word!

"And since that day I've tried in vain
My business to pursue;
For all the managers explain
That it would never do
To have a circus clown who once
Had got off something new."

—New York Clipper.

A WOMAN of good form is only spoiled by the corset. The curves of the body are all outward curves, one arising out of the other. But the chief curves of the corset are inward curves, which are not only incorrect, but the source of grave damage in compressing unnaturally the organs of the body. Another objection to the corset is in the bones, whose rigidity obscures that rippling movement of the body which is one of its chief beauties. As far as this is concerned, the body might as well be incased in cast iron. Another objection is in the hard cross line of the bust, which distinctly shows, as do often the laces under a tightly-fitting dress.

Jealousy.

Some poet has said that "All torments of the damned we find in only thee, Oh Jealousy, thy tyrant of the mind." This is grandly sweeping and magnificently inaccurate. Any sufferer from Indigestion knows to the contrary. Indigestion, the villian of the tragedy played among the gastric juices of the stomach can, and does double discount the horrors of jealousy. Jealousy is often an attendant upon the latter, and when indigestion is removed this jaundiced companion of a deranged liver flies. TARAXINE is the best known remedy extant for impaired digestion, deranged liver, and diseases of the bowels and kidneys.

A Long Lived Race of Tobacco Users.

New York Sun.

D. A. Hulett, a member of the Democratic General Committee in Brooklyn, while standing in the city hall yesterday, smoking, said, when asked if he was not a great smoker:

"Yes, an uncle of mine has just died from excessive smoking. He was 97 years old, and both smoked and chewed. My father refuses to take warning by him, and, although he is now 90 years old, he keeps on smoking and chewing, as he has done for a half-century. A grandfather of mine died in 1850, after having used tobacco freely for eighty-five years. Tobacco must have killed him. He was within two months of being one hundred years old when he died.

Two other Ohio men had their right side up the other day in Iowa when it rained porridge. The Hon. James F. Wilson, who has been nominated for the long-term United States senatorship in Iowa, was born in Newark, O., in 1828, and went to Iowa in 1853. After holding several state offices, including seats in both houses of the legislature, he was appointed to fill a vacancy in the Thirty-seventh congress, and was elected to the Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth and Fortieth congresses. He was one of the managers of the Johnson impeachment trial. In 1869 he was appointed a Pacific railroad director. J. W. McDill, the Iowa short-term senator, is also a native of Ohio. He is a lawyer by profession, and was elected a county judge in Iowa in 1859. Afterward he became a clerk in the treasury department at Washington, resigning the place in 1865. He has since held a circuit and a district judgeship in Iowa, and was a member of the Forty-third and Forty-fourth congresses.

"One Tale is Good Until Another is Told."

We are greatly obliged to some of the dry goods merchants of Decatur for the manifest interest they take in our business,—particularly that part which relates to our expenses. And that they may not suffer in mind, we assure them, we understand the situation exactly. Our expenses are large. Not as large as Marshall Field & Co., nor A. T. Stewart & Co., and yet, not near so large as all the retail stores in Decatur together—by—say from thirty to forty thousand dollars a year. And yet our sales will equal the combined sales of the latter. Then in buying goods in large quantities and from first hands, we save from thirty to forty thousand dollars a year more. So we have the advantage of from sixty to eighty thousand dollars a year in competing for the trade of this section. And our worthy competitors who make it a business to agitate this subject, will please state whose customers pay this great difference in expenses. Very Respectfully,

A POPULAR TONIC

For Weak Lungs and Consumption.

No preparation ever introduced to the American public, for the relief and cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Debilitated Constitution, Weakness of the Lungs, or Consumption in the incipient or advanced stages of the disease, has ever met with the indorsements of physicians or patients as the celebrated "Tolu, Rock and Rye." The repeated and continued sales of the article everywhere are the best evidence of its real merits. Letters and testimonials from every quarter of the country, attesting the stimulating, tonic and healing effects, are in possession of the proprietors, and can be adduced to convince the most skeptical reader of its intrinsic virtues. Further commendation is unnecessary and superfluous, as a trial of this article, having a pleasant taste and agreeable flavor, will satisfy all those who are afflicted or pining away with pulmonary weakness of the relief to be secured by the use of Tolu, Rock and Rye. (Chicago Times.) Jan3d6mo

Nothing Short of Unmistakable Benefits

Conferred upon tens of thousands of sufferers could originate and maintain the reputation which AYER'S SARSAPARILLA enjoys. It is a compound of the best vegetable alteratives, with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron,—all powerful, blood-making, blood-cleansing and life-sustaining—and is the most effectual of all remedies for scrofulous, mercurial, or blood disorders. Uniformly successful and certain, it produces rapid and complete cures of Scrofula, Sores, Boils, Humors, Pimples, Eruptions, Skin Diseases and all disorders arising from impurity of the blood. By its invigorating effects it always relieves and often cures Liver Complaints, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, and is a potent renewer of waning vitality. For purifying the blood it has no equal. It tones up the system, restores and preserves the health, and imparts vigor and energy. For forty years it has been in extensive use, and is to-day the most available medicine for the suffering sick.
